The Hard Truth About the Kingdom

God Celebrates Faithfulness

MATTHEW 25:14-30

“Well done, good and faithful servant...”

Matthew 25:21

A Thought to Take Home

The Master wasn't looking for perfection—He was looking for faithfulness.

The servants who multiplied their talents weren't praised because they had more than everyone else. They were praised because they faithfully used what had been entrusted to them. They recognized opportunities, acted with courage, and trusted that their work mattered.

God still works the same way today.

He has entrusted every believer with gifts, opportunities, relationships, and influence. The question is not how much we've been given, but what we choose to do with it.

| Think About It...

- 1. What part of today's message challenged you the most?

- 2. Where might God be inviting you to grow instead of simply staying comfortable?

- 3. What opportunity may already be in front of you that you've overlooked because it seems too difficult, unfamiliar, or risky?

- 4. When was the last time God asked you to learn something new, try something new, or trust Him in a new way?

5. If following Christ only confirms what you've always believed and always done, is it possible God is inviting you to take a new step of faith? What might that step be?

6. How can I connect to what God is already doing so that the talents He has entrusted to me can accomplish His purpose in His Kingdom?
